TWO CITIES ARE HELD IN GRIP OF RIOTERS

Yank Flyers Go to Aid of Warsaw

Pole Strength Is Reinforced; U.S. Consulate Closed

Defensive Line East of Capital City Pierced by Reds; Preparations Are Begun for Moving Seat of Government.

Warsaw, Aug. 5.—Owing to the desperate situation on the front nearest Warsaw, the Kosciusko squadron, the air force composed for the most part of Americans, attached to the Polish army, is being transferred from the southern front. The squadron will aid in the defense of the Polish capital.

The American consulate in Warsaw will be closed Friday and Consul Rankin is making preparations to depart Friday night. Most of the records already have been shipped away. The American legation here also is prepared to close within a few days. The legation employees have shipped their baggage to Camp Grapte, the emergency headquarters of the American Typhus Expedition.

The operations of the Kosciusko squadron will be begun in its new field within two or three days. Meanwhile bullet battered tanks which saw service in the war trudged through the streets of Warsaw today on their way to engage the Russians. The arrival also began of 75-millimeter guns which the French used against the Germans on the western front. Several artillery detachments with these guns and other weapons left for the Soviet front where fighting with the Russians was in progress. These batteries were expected to begin action on Friday.

Defensive Line East of Warsaw

has been pierced in several places, according to reports from the front. Preparations have been made for transferring the government if that should not succeed by the Russian officials. The officials still hope the Soviet forces will be checked somewhere east of the Vistula.

No announcement has been made as to what place the government would move to, but it is reported it would be moved to Czestochowa, 142 miles southwest of Warsaw, near the Silesian frontier.

Advancing in East.

Of the developments along the eastern defense line to the west of the front, it was shown that after a halt of seven days while reinforcements were brought up and supplies forwarded along the river, the Bolsheviks forced crossings of the Bug at a number of places. At one point southeast of Ostrow, where the Soviet forces are reported to have crossed the river in large numbers, crossed.

Todays' communiqué from headquarters announced that the Russians had forced the Bug in the region of Drohiczyn (about 10 miles east of the capital), thus being a part of the front line to outflank the defenders of Warsaw and push on toward the Vistula. Poles counterattacked and fierce fighting is continuing.

Reds Recell for Attack.

Between Drohiczyn and Brest-Litovsk, the communiqué continues, the Poles launched a counter-attack against the Russians who had crossed the Bug below Brest-Litovsk, which is in the hands of the Russians, they retreated for an attack which compelled the Poles to evacuate Terespol just to the west of the river.

There was fighting at various points to the south, but without gains for the Russians.

Retreated in West.

The Soviet troops have been checked in their westward push along the Prussian border, the statement announces. They have reached Myslowice in an advance apparently designed to capture the city of Katowice.

BRITAIN ACCEPTS SOVIET'S REPLY

Russ Delegates Confer With Lloyd George on Prospect of Peace.

(REUTERS PRESS.) London, Aug. 6.—Today's cabinet meeting at which the Russian reply to the British note on Poland was considered, was followed by no official indication of the trend of affairs. The best information was that Great Britain would accept the soviet reply, notwithstanding that it is not wholly satisfactory.

This afternoon Leo Kamenetz and Leonid Krassnoff, with several other of the soviet delegation here, held a conference with Premier Lloyd George.

Kamenetz Explains.

The friendship of Governor Cantu of Lower California for American gamblers and sports is given by the Mexican federal government as the reason for the present attempt to remove him from office. It has precipitated a new revolution. Governor Cantu is staying here with James Coffroth, the American fight promoter, who has staged many fights at Tijuana, which is just over the international boundary line in Lower California.

Return to Normal Working Conditions of Mid-West Mines Relieves Shortage.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Speeding up of the coal movement to the northwest, resulting in immediate delivery of 20,000,000 tons by November 1, was forecast today by officials of the interstate commerce commission as the result of the return to normal working conditions of bituminous mines in the central competitive field.

A movement of 4,000 cars a day carries 500,000 tons of coal to lake ports for transhipment to the northwest was ordered by the commission but since that order became effective July 26 only 2,800 cars can be moving about 120,000 tons a day have been moved.

NOTED ACTOR WEDS N. Y. SOCIETY LEADER

New York, Aug. 6.—John Barrymore and Mrs. Leonard M. Thomas were married today in the apartment of Mr. John McCullough in the Ritz Carlton hotel.

Practically none of the friends of Mrs. Thomas or Mr. Barrymore knew of the forthcoming marriage. The family name of the Barrymores, Blithe, and the name of the Thomas probably never occurred to Mr. Barrymore as John Blithe. Blithe was the name under which his sister Ethel was married to Russell G. Colby.

Mrs. Thomas is well known in New York society. She is the former Miss Blanchard Quigley.

She was married in 1910 to Leonard M. Thomas, and was hailed as one of the most beautiful young women in society.

In April of the present year it became known that Mrs. Thomas had several months previously divorced her husband in Paris.

Mrs. Thomas won considerable notice by her poems. She wrote under the nom de plume of "Michael Strange." Her productions have been of the "poems of passion" type.

Mr. Barrymore played a long season with his brother Lionel in "The Jester," appeared last spring in a revival of "Richard III."

Bookkeepers, stenographers and other office employees are arriving in this city to take up office duties. Their duties will commence at once and no time will be lost for desirable rooms. Being business people, they will naturally go about the matter of finding a room in a business like manner—they will use the usual way of finding rooms abroad—the classified pages of the Gazette. All the desirable rooms to rent are advertised. If your room is not already advertised there, call Bell 57 or R. C. 77 today, ask for classified department and dictate your advertisement.

Senate Votes to Repeal Prohibition

HARDING POSITION ON ALIEN CITIZENS

Delicate Question Raised in Front Porch Speech on League Causes.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE.

Copyright, 1920, by the Janesville Gazette.
Janesville, Aug. 6.—Senator Harding has touched on a subject more than once to burn the fingers of the republican and democratic candidates if they don't watch out. For admittedly the question of the prejudices and wishes of the foreign born voters in America is one of the most delicate of all political schedules to the Alcan Question.

The senator in his front porch speech to Wayne county republicans struck out boldly against the league of nations as a "world experiment which threatened the independence of American citizenship because as he said it is folly to think of trying to bind aliens in American unity when the land of their adoption sits in judgment on the land from which they came."

Now the issue is the league of nations, and here it attained on the ground that it would cause friction among foreign born residents in the United States and defend on the basis of American cosmopolitanism being the useful factor in mediating disputes abroad. But in the republican and democratic campaign headquarters there are to be found this year, as in every other presidential contest, certain bureaus designed to control the foreign vote.

To the Irish voters the republicans are appealing for support on the theory that the league of nations somehow through article 19 requires America to support England's war against Ireland. This theory is supported steadily and assiduously that article 19 in the league covenant would entitle America for the first time to approach England officially and make the matter of Irish self-determination an international instead of a domestic question as England claims it.

The Pianio Question.

To the Italian voters the republicans are appealing for support because of President Wilson's supportiveness antipathy to England's participation in the League of Nations. The Italian would probably be happy to see the Banca controversy settled so enable them to point to Italy's acceptance of a settlement as a proof of Italian approval of the concert of nations.

To the German voters the appeal of the republicans need not be more than an emphasis on Wilsonism, which is still an abhorrent term among those German-Americans who felt that American participation in the war was unnecessary or avoidable; those who fled the accusations of "hyphenates" were too loosed applied.

The German Vote.

On the other hand, if the German-born voters were influenced by the wishes of the country of their birth, they would be inclined to support those who would see the league of nations established, because it is a fact that Germany fully expected the United States to be a member of the all-important reparations commission and to help keep down the size of the indemnity. It is a strong confirmation of the American view-point expressed at the Paris conference by President Wilson that the imposture of an unlimited indemnity now has been abandoned. Germany fully counted on American influence in the League of Nations to give her a seat.

But it is a serious question how much German sympathizers in America are in touch with the desires of the Fatherland and how much more vital to them is the expression against the democratic administration which offended them during the war.

Piaget of Poland.

To the Poles the republicans and democrats will present different aspects of Poland's plight. The democrats will say that the troubles in Poland today are due to neglect of the people and especially the inability of America to help through the league of nations, while the republicans would answer that it this is true, President Wilson's stubbornness kept America from being in the league to render the assistance which the Poles wanted.

Among the Czech-Slovaks and Hungarians the assistance already rendered by America to the new republics in Central Europe will be used to political advantage in the claiming of credit by the democrats for the part played in creating Wilson's policy of the establishment of those countries and by the republicans for the financial assistance and relief rendered in Austria and elsewhere in central Europe by Herbert Hoover, who has announced his support of Senator Harding.

Wide Questions Raised.

But fundamentally Mr. Harding has opened up the question of the sympathies of the foreign born in America that a dispute arises between the United States and the country of their birth. The dissension inside America when the United States got into conflict with Germany occurred among the democrats, when there was no league of nations, and the doctrine, moreover, that the Irish-Americans have sat in the lobbies of congress and influenced the passage of resolution after resolution offensive to Great Britain. On the other hand, Mr. Wilson himself has contended that because America was made up of various nationalities her people could bring friendly influence to bear and could better understand European controversies.

Harding's Idea.

Senator Harding is content from America's experience with the hyphen in the war with Germany that the United States would be perpetually at war with districts among her own citizens if this country sat on a council and discussed European questions. It is considered by republicans as one of the most powerful arguments that could be made against America's entry into the war, that it would unquestionably be the basis of republican efforts to secure the support of foreign born voters for a policy of hands off Europe. But the trouble is that many foreign born want America to use her influence in Europe and to mix in. It's a two-edged sword.

SHOT DICE; DIRTY CELLS; 6 FINED $35; EIGHT IN ROUND-UP

Little Phoebe didn't come—but the cops did.

Eight men were arrested last night on the Jackson street bridge for shooting craps by the light of day. They were apparently so engrossed in gambling little Phoebe came that they did not see the officer approaching. They made no attempt at resistance, and were put in the cellars for the night. The eight were Neal Derby, Fred Dinsmore, Francis McLean, Abel Johnson, Joe Barry, Robert Bond, Tom Boeman and John Durr.

When the case came up in municipal court this morning they all pleaded guilty, except Tom Boeman who did not spend the night in jail, which was furnished. The case will be brought up later. Judge Maxfield was about to rule the rest of the $15 and costs each when it was reported that they had turned up the cells where they had spent the night. Then they were each fined $15 and costs of $6 day in jail, except Frank McGuire who did not spend the night in jail. Neal Derby, Abel Johnson and the rest with Barry paid and the rest with McLean paid $15 and costs of $6 day.

His attitude on the other prominent issues of the day is pointedly stated as follows:

"Warning is the only industry of the state. The market commission should be strengthened and extended to the end that farm products may reach the consumer with greater profit to the farmer and less expense to the consumer."

"The situation is such that many factories in Rock and Green counties had to stop production. The demand for labor is great and the supply is low. Investigation revealed that the trouble is practically overcome, the demand remains low. Investigation revealed that saloons and similar places that used considerable quantities of inferior quality, were taking out of business. D. Whitney, president and manager. Mr. Van Beynum had the training which especially fits him for this class of work. He was educated in the schools at Janesville, Wis., attended Beloit college for a time and graduated from the University of Wisconsin with a degree in engineering. He has had two years of experience in the insurance business, two years, soliciting and investigating risks. G. M. EARNINGS
IN HIGHER RECORD

Financial Backers Are Well Planned and Satisfied With Conditions.

Wall Street Journal: Earnings of General Motors Corporation in the second quarter of this year were $1,000,000 greater than net profits of $1,574,000 after federal taxes for the three months ended March 31, last, according to preliminary estimates. The company's financial backers are well satisfied with present conditions and are less opposed to and do not view with alarm the fact that a shrinkage in earnings may occur.

"When we interested ourselves in General Motors," said a representative of financial interests who recently entered the company's affairs, "we took into consideration the fact that we might come a time when a great deal of pessimistic talk would be circulated about the automobile industry and that its business might temporarily suffer thereby. We have not changed our opinion. We believe that the company is making every effort to meet it to let it spend itself. People find it hard to believe that there is still a great shortage of motor vehicles in the country as a whole, while we hear much talk of concentrations of orders for automobiles. It is true that in some sections there is no demand, but in other localities dealers cannot obtain enough cars to fill their requirements. This condition is difficult to adjust because of the transportation tieups."

No New Expansion—For the time being no attempt will be made to carry forward the development of General Motors on a large scale. The company's existing facilities will be gradually augmented by the completion of new units under construction, but no large new additions will be undertaken.

General Motors Corporation will have no difficulty in disposing of every motor vehicle it can produce, but in the case of the new freight car movement recently, the demand for cars for crop movement may affect inflow of raw material, thereby curtailing production and earnings. The company's sponsors are not apprehensive of the results of this possibility, as it is believed that these are not normal times and General Motors is in sufficiently strong financial condition to safely weather a temporary falling off in earnings.

Balance sheet as of March 31, 1920, showed total current assets of $22,822,859 and current liabilities of $14,265,297, making net working capital of $11,518,562. Of the current assets, more than $55,000,000 was in cash and inventories accounted for nearly $158,000,000. Total profit and loss surplus at the end of the first quarter of this year was $92,543,43.

How Disease Is Passed

No one wants to think he has disease germs on his hands, but even though he may be in perfect health, he may have the germs which will be passed along to others almost every week," said Dr. Welch. "One can read in the papers of a typhoid epidemic caused by the eating of food prepared by typhoid carriers or convalescents. Great numbers of people are infected at one time from food thus contaminated. The germs are carried by the hands of these carriers to the food prepared."

INTERURBAN MAY REROUTE CARS

Officials Considering Using New Jackson Street Bridge, and Perhaps Old Loop.

Officials of the Rockford and Interurban railway are seriously considering rerouting the cars over the Jackson street bridge, according to a statement made this morning by James Worthington, local agent. This used to be the route taken several years ago.

Engineers of the company have been inspecting the right-of-way to determine whether it will be advisable to make changes, passing through the city. At one time the interurban cars crossed the old Jackson street bridge and continued on through Franklin street, making the loop around Wall, High and Bluff streets, with a terminus near the St. Paul station. The tracks of this old line are still in the streets, and may be used again. There is nothing definite at present.

The new auto truck recently received at the office and put into service for delivery of parcel post packages is kept busy delivering 2,000 of them weekly.

Several new clerks and carriers have been assigned to the office to take care of this increase in trade but have not yet been put on. The present staff is composed of 12 carriers and three temporary ones, 15 clerks, including the head of the mailing department, and nine carriers. This is considerable consideration in the building at present and there are hopes of having an addition built in the rear in the near future.

TO MOVE PLYMOUTH SCHOOL TO NEW SITE

At a special school meeting of district 5, Plymouth, Wednesday evening, it was voted to authorize the school board to purchase a new site for the school house. The old location has been condemned by the state department of education. The location has been determined upon and it is now the business of the school board to acquire the property, according to Sup't. O. D. Antisdel. The present location of the school is unfavorable, the building being situated in low land.

What the building will be moved and repaired in such way that it will meet the approval of the state department. A basement and furnace is to be installed and such renovation as will give the building satisfactory lighting, ventilation, etc.

With several of the trustees of the district assisting in the work, it is hoped that the building will be ready for occupancy by fall. Sup't. O. D. Antisdel attended the meeting. C. G. Hesgard, C. O. Onsgard and Mrs. Helene Homestead made up the school board.

The Stimulating Smell

BY FREDERIC J. HASKIN

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 6.—When you climb onto one of the tall stools before a soda fountain, enclose the top of a bottle of strawberry pop with your lips and drink long and gurglingly, you may think that many patient little strawberries grew up just to give you such a treat, but you are mistaken. Never a strawberry went into the making of your refreshing draught. Practically all you are getting is some colored soda water and a smell.

This is a disheartening thought in a world where life seems to be just one long shattering of illusions, so we hasten to add that although your pop has no relation to the succulent strawberry it is nevertheless a quite nice and harmless drink, quite worthy to quench that carefully guarded American thirst. In fact it is much purer than if it were flavored with real strawberries, which is why it isn't, if you follow us.

Now that prohibition has made soft drinks so interesting to all of us, and so profitable to some of us a scientific treatise upon the subject will not be out of place. You perhaps did not realize that your soda consisted of more than carbonated water and flavoring, but it does. Science, psychology and even art go into the making of this refreshing beverage, and the most important of these is physiology.

Mr. D. W. Hutchinson, a manufacturer of soda water flavors and bottling supplies, is an authority upon the subject as he practically grew up in the soda pop business—a heavenly boyhood if boys tasted in those days were the same as they are now. It is no wonder that he repays this effervescent and stimulating element of his youth with a lifelong interest.

Mr. Hutchinson's father, William H. Hutchinson, was one of the first bottlers of soft drinks in this country. Way back in 1849 he started a small beer business here, (the "small" modifies the beer and not the business, small beer being another name for root beer, birch beer, and so forth). He made his beverages of sugar, herbs, yeast, and other things and put them in stone bottles. These were the "soft drinks" of our forefathers, and according to Mr. Hutchinson they were cloudy and unpleasing to look upon, although good to drink, and innocuous enough to suit a certain Nebraskan.

When the machinery for bottling came into being, he drifted into the soda water business, and his enterprise grew up with the great American thirst. But the way of the early bottler was not all easy, in spite of the great demand for his wares. His chief difficulty was in making his soda water clear and sparkling so that it would attract the cautious buyer who is ever on the lookout for signs of impurity. This is where the science, psychology and art, aforementioned, enter into the story.

The bottlers soon discovered that it was impossible to flavor their drinks with flavors made from natural fruits. The flavors made from fruit contain pectin, albumen and other substances which tend to separate and make little stringy particles in the soda water after it has been bottled for a few days. This gives the drink a cloudy, unpleasant look and arouses the suspicions of the cautious drinker who of course thinks that the particles are deadly germs. Then, fruits such as the apple, strawberry, cherry, and peach do not lend themselves to be concentrated in soluble form with the intensity necessary. Of course where there is an essential oil in the fruit, as in the case of the lemon, orange or lime, this oil is used. Otherwise the fruit flavors of soda water have not quite the close relation to Mother Nature, the rains and winds of heaven and the sun-kissed cheeks of apples and cherries, that the esthetic ad-writer has led us to believe, they have.

But when the bottlers realized that pure fruit flavors could not be made satisfactorily, nothing daunted they decided to make imitation flavors that would be satisfactory. Mr. Hutchinson, and others like him, knowing that the sense of smell is so closely related to the sense of taste that they are nearly one, concentrated upon the odors of the flavors. They analyzed the real fruits, duplicated their chemical parts as nearly as possible, and made extracts to stimulate them in taste and smell—especially in smell.

Thus it is that when you open your bottle of strawberry pop your nostrils are assailed by the refreshing odor of the ripe fruit, you drink off the pleasantly tingling fluid, and go away much refreshed, thinking you have just imbibed some soda water flavored with strawberry juice. What you have had was a cleverly imitated strawberry smell and a drink of sweetened soda water. Of course there is some taste of the fruit, too, but not much.

Try this test some time and you will realize how little. Wait until you have such a severe cold that you can't smell at all (and we politely hope that you will have to wait a long time), then blindfold yourself and have someone give you a bottle of pop and see if you can guess the flavor from the taste. You will have an unusually keen sense of taste if you can, according to Mr. Hutchinson. He declines, however, to put all the blame for this form of deception upon the bottlers. Nature herself goes in for a little of the same kind of fooling. You could try the same blindfold test with an apple and a piece of raw potato, and have a hard time telling which was which.

Furthermore, although you are getting an artificially colored and flavored drink, you are getting an absolutely pure one. Only the purest water, the best sugar and flavoring, put up in bottles that are chemically clean will give that bearable, sparkling appearance which most soda pop has. One sure way of protecting yourself from all impurities in the beverage is to refuse to drink any soda water which has a cloudy appearance in the bottle. This rule applies only to bottled soda as that which is served at fountains with fresh crushed fruits and ice cream is necessarily clouded.

The coloring matter in soda pop has nothing to do with its flavor. It is just put in to make it look pretty and to appeal to your artistic sense at the same time that your other senses are being毫不费力地 bamboozled. It is made of burnt sugar, in the case of amber and brown drinks such as ginger ale and root beer, and otherwise of coal tar dyes which have been certified as harmless by the government.

We have saved the most interesting fact about this artificial flavoring until the last: It is made with alcohol. There is lots and lots of this almost obsolete and altogether wicked drug in a gallon of flavoring extract. But as one ounce of flavoring extract flavors one gallon of flavoring syrup and as one gallon of flavoring syrup which is made of sugar and water beside the precious ounce of flavoring and coloring matter, is used to flavor seven or eight gallons of soda water, the man with an old-time thirst will find it impossible to drink enough pop to get the effect of one cocktail.

BY EDGAR A. GUEST

MERIT.
You don't need to shout: "Come and see what I do!" Come and gaze at my speed as my goals I pursue!"
You don't need a bugle to summon the throng To watch you perform or to cheer you along;
You don't need to boast of your strength or your skill;
Or the things that you know or your courage and will:
Put the trumpet away; there is no need to blow.
Just do your work well and the wide world will know it.

You needn't announce: "I am great in my line!" I rank with the best and my product is fine.
Like a street fair, loud you don't need to attract A crowd that will gather and look at your act;
If your work is worth while, there is no need to shout.
The news far and wide, men will soon find The whole world is watching for splendid and new things.
And it's quick to discover the man who can do things.

You don't need the spotlight, you don't need to boast. Success will be yours if you stand at your post;

Merit speaks to the world in all languages known, Through your work it will tell of the skill you own.
And if you deserve it, your fame will go far.
Men will know by your deeds just how worthy you are:

There's a task to be done, merely step up and do it—
Success shall be yours. That is all there is to it.

BY ROY K. MOULTON

PROMPHCY COMES TRUE.

Dear Roy—Somewhere in these United States of ours there is a child with the soul of a prophet, as the following letter from Mark Twain, prophet of "Sawdust and Gumption," will prove.

"The constitution of the United States was established to insure domestic hostility." At last something has fulfilled its mission.

The same child, or another one, is credited with the following:

Having naturalized over 6,000 aliens chosen from 7,000 applicants during the past year, Judge Wm. McCarthy of Jersey will now take a well-earned rest.

The judge held the last naturalization hearing of the year when he admitted 100 foreigners to citizenship. It remained for the final session to furnish further evidence that the movies have become an important educational factor in the life of the country.

"What happened to Abraham Lincoln?" asked the judge of one applicant.

"He was killed in the movies," was the reply.

CARRIE CHAPMAN CATT.

The labors of Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt in the interests of woman suffrage that were to bring her to the platform of the International Woman Suffrage Alliance and of the National Woman Suffrage Association began in her native state of Iowa in 1890, when Mrs. Catt, then Carrie Lane, affiliated herself with the Iowa Woman Suffrage Association as state lecturer and organizer.

From 1892 until the present, Mrs. Catt has been in the service of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, serving as president of that organization from 1913 to 1916. When she attempted to retire from the presidency of the International Alliance at Geneva last June she was re-elected by acclamation.

Mrs. Catt has lectures in nearly every state in this country and nearly every country in Europe. She is one of the most active suffrage workers in the campaigns here that have already proved successful and was a leader in the campaign that resulted in the submission of a woman suffrage amendment to the Federal constitution. The bill was successful, passed the house of representatives May of last year and was approved by the senate the following month.

Mrs. Catt believes that women should have some professional training if necessary to support themselves. Here are some statements she made in an interview on the subject of women as voters:

LOOKING BACKWARD

FORTY YEARS AGO

August 6, 1880.—Last evening the Janesville Guards met and drilled. There was a large crowd present than usual and the members were put through a new round of drilling. A business meeting was held afterward and the following two were added to the roster: Edwin Samuels and Stanley Rutter.

THIRTY-ONE YEARS AGO

August 6, 1889.—The regular monthly meeting of the Business Men's Association was held last night. A letter from S. G. Clarke, Chicago, was read. The letter was written to him by his son, who was then a boy of 14 years. His offer was to sell the railway to the city for $10,000, while it cost him $27,000. He is too busy with other matters to look after it properly. The matter was referred to a committee.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

August 6, 1900.—Du Lette Hall, Fort Atkinson, son of Chauncey Hall, was drowned in Lake Koshkonong last night and his body was recovered this morning. It was thought that he was under the influence of liquor and fell out of his boat.

TEN YEARS AGO

August 6, 1910.—Buffalo Bill made his last appearance in this city yesterday. This is possibly his last year and the bow he made in the arena in the afternoon and again in the evening was his last one to his friends here. He is one of the greatest show men in the world, and has the greatest Wild West show.

Senator Harding is certainly keeping Mr. Cox on the jump making explanations.

HEALTH TALKS

BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

Dr. Brady will answer all signed letters pertaining to health. Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail, postage paid, in ink and a stamped, self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Address Dr. Wm. Brady, Gazette.

FRUIT JUICE FOR BABIES

Physicians have prescribed orange juice as an adjunct to artificial feeding for infants these many years. They knew from experience that babies fed with modified milk, especially the milk which was sterilized, did not grow well and failed to produce the desired gain.

Other raw fruit and vegetable juices probably possess similar growth-promoting properties and both raw and cooked vegetable broths are good for babies on the bottle with happy results for generations past. Some such addition to the diet is advisable whenever the total of whole milk (milk and cream) consumed by the infant is not more than 20 oz. a day.

QUERIES AND ANSWERS

Preventing Seasickness.

In late August I am to make a voyage to Japan in a small sea boat and am afraid I'll be seasick. Can one take anything or do anything to prevent the dreadful malady? (Editor.)

Tomato juice has other valuable properties which should commend the tomato to every one concerned with the feeding, health and growth of children. There are, in this great free country, where everyone is free to acquire knowledge of physiology, hygiene and nutrition from any one who yearns to take him in—a lot of self constituted food experts who profess to have some valuable information concerning the whole field of nutrition.

My housekeeper is a boy, aged eight, who drinks about three glasses of milk a day, but also has a cup of coffee every morning and ten or twelve cups of tea throughout the day. Is this good for him? He is very nervous, bites his nails and frequently wetts the bed. (Editor.)

ANSWER.—Certainly no child under the age of sixteen should have tea or coffee. These are too stimulating to the nervous system and children should have a smaller proportion than adults. The bedwetting difficulty is often one result of errors of the kind and of allowing children to use soap, pepper sauce, cutup and other strong condiments without restriction. Milk is the child's beverage.

Tomato is rich in vitamins, both the fat-soluble and the water-soluble vitamins. Therefore its juice particularly valuable in the diet of infants, and to sterilized or pasteurized modified milk or to any of the well known proprietary infant foods.

Drs. Byfield and Daniels of the University of Iowa have observed that when the daily dose of orange juice given an infant was increased from a tablespoonful to four or five days of the volume of a pint at eight months, the infant did not wet his bed.

I believe I have the record in the case of operation for ruptured appendix operated on the right inguinal hernia which was closed and dressed and walking about on May 7. I left the hospital on May 13 and was back at work June 1. Some people tell me I have not done so well for three months. How about it? I feel fine and have no trouble with the stool. (Editor.)

DR. ROOSEVELT.—Doctor evidently knows his business, and it is best to consider what "some people" say as human. Some of his patients (one and one-half ounces) infants whose weight had previously remained stationary for a number of days began to gain in weight. This indicates that a man in his 45 years old in order to be president, could Franklin Roosevelt, who is but 38, succeed? If he were elected and did not serve out his term? A. L. P.

A. The constitution requires that a man be 35, not 45, in order to be eligible to the office of president. Theodore Roosevelt, our youngest president, was 42 when inducted into office. The letter will be answered by the bureau.

Q. Does one-fourth of the population live in the eastern part of the United States? R. T.

A. Over a third of the population of the country lives in the northeastern section of the country, comprising New England, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware, although this section contains but six per cent of the area of the United States.

Q. When should fruit trees be pruned? I. B.

A. Most fruit trees may be pruned in February or March except the peach, which should be pruned a little later since all injury to the annual growth from winter killing will then be apparent, and the pruner can modify his plan so as to leave a maximum quantity of wood in order to secure a good crop of fruit.

Q. Are satisfactory telescope lenses made in the United States? A. C. S.

A. Before the World War practically all the optical glass used in this country came from Germany, but its manufacture has now been undertaken successfully in this country.

The Sun is especially menacing to those who have high ambitions and pursue them. Political candidates should avoid any initiative at this time.

LINDSEY HELPS PLAN AN ELOPEMENT.

Mrs. Edmunds wrote me a sweet letter today asking me to come to see her tomorrow if Fane and my office would permit and telling me how much she admired my work, etc. I felt quite flattered.

Laura came in to see me at said office at noon today, and asked me to come and luncheon with her. She was awfully excited about something, I saw that at a glance and so I put away my work and went off with her.

Once settled over our chop and salad, she burst out with her great news—Fane!—that Morgan was urging her to cut all the stupid and solemn nonsense of a big and elaborate wedding and marry him somewhere in Connecticut within a day or two!

Frankly young animal that she is, Laura confessed that they were both too young to love each other to stand the strain of separation much longer, and therefore for the sake of all concerned it would be better for them to be made one. I agreed with her of course, and this seemed to please her very much.

She said that like this, little Lindsey can't be the accessory before the fact, or something like that—maybe chief witness would express the thing more clearly to the public. Be that as it may, Laura Morgan and I are to elope to a small town in Connecticut early tomorrow, and there perform the deed. What follows after that is on the knees of the gods and we should worry. My it's so thrilling, all this! And to think of my being one of the leading lights in such a grand romance makes me believe in fate and Prince Charming all over again, in spite of my newly acquired

Heart and Home Problems

BY ELIZABETH H. THOMPSON
Letters May be Addressed to Mrs. Thompson, In Care of the Gazette

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am eighteen years old and going with a young man three years my senior. He lives in another town and is going there soon. He wants me to go along and visit his mother.

We are not engaged, but I know he loves me. He is working hard and saving money and I know that when he has enough he will ask me to marry him.

My father says I cannot go to his home. What do you think?

DOCTEUR.

Your father is right. It would not be wise to visit in the young man's home since you are not definitely engaged. Besides, the invitation should come from his mother.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: A certain boy has been calling on me for about two months. Lately he began to tease for a photograph of me, which I refused to give him. One morning after he had been to see me, I noticed that my engagement ring had disappeared from the piano. When I asked him about it, he looked innocent and said he had not taken it. I know he did take it.

I like this boy very much and do say my parents. Father laughs about the picture and thinks it is a good joke. How can I make him give it back to me? Or, shall I let him keep it? MADGE J.

Perhaps you had better say nothing more about the picture since the young man says no other of the girls. Of course, no girl but it is a sight for her to know you know the truth. It is a matter which should be forgotten rather than to give it too much importance.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have become so tired that I look terrible. At first I thought it would be best to get good and sunburned, but now I have had enough of it. Please print a bleach for tan.

THANK YOU.

Put half a pint of rich milk into a porcelain kettle and bring it to a boil. Skim carefully and add one-quarter of an ounce of strained lemon juice. Remove from the heat and pour in one-half ounce of white brandy. If you can get any, the lotion is beneficial without the brandy, however.

Bottle when cold and apply to the face at night with a soft cloth, letting the mixture stay on all night. Wrap over the face again in the morning after washing.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been engaged 6 weeks and have no ring. Last night my fiance told me that he expected to buy me a wrist watch soon for an engagement present. I don't want a wrist watch, but he is much as a ring. My fiancee happens to be the only which is not engaged. Do you think it would be all right for me to tell him I would much prefer a ring to a wrist watch?

BETROTHED.

Yes, it would be all right to tell him. Say that you appreciate his

When ready to broil the fish, place on the broiler and broil slowly for twenty minutes, basting frequently with a little boiling water.

Some PILLINGS for Peppers and Tomatoes: Cook one-quarter pound of macaroni and then cool and chop very fine. Place four tablespoons of bacon fat or other good shortening in a frying pan and then add one of finely minced onions. Cook until onions are soft, taking care not to let the onions color, then add the macaroni and two tablespoons of finely minced parsley, one teaspoon of salt, one-half teaspoon of pepper and one-half cup of grated cheese.

Stir to blend and then mix into this pepper or tomato sauce which has been prepared as directed. Place in a baking pan and add one-half cup of water for every four tomatoes or peppers and this will prevent them from bursting while baking. Bake in a hot oven for thirty minutes and then serve with "cream" parsley sauce. This amount will fill eight medium-sized peppers or tomatoes.

The Mystery of Hartley House

By CLIFFORD S. RAYMOND

(Copyright by George H. Doran Co.)

Mr. Sidney, we found, had left brief but explicit directions for his burial. This little will, conceived, was simple and startling. He was to be buried by the river, close to the pool which had been invented with the added charm of a ghost story. His body was to be marked by an inscriptions stone. The inscription was to be as he directed in a sealed enclosure, to be opened at the time Mrs. Sidney thought appropriate.

It might be, he had written, that Mrs. Sidney would not want the stone erected during her life. Her wishes were to be consulted. When the stone was marked, if it ever was, the inscription was to be as he directed. Mrs. Sidney, acquainted with the terms of this extraordinary will, said that it would wish to have the sealed envelope opened immediately and its instructions carried out.

Christmas night had set in, and the place was a fairyland of glistening white. Far off church bells sounded faintly across the snow. In the increasing cold, following the start of the storm, timbers in the old house creaked and snapped, and when one of the people of the house, on an outdoor chore, passed within earshot, the sound of footsteps was audible and the crisp crunching of snow, even as a high wind emphasizes the comfort of a secure and warm shelter.

I was in the office when Mrs. Sidney's instructions to open the sealed enclosure were received.

I proceeded to do so. There was a brief note, as follows:

I desire the marking of my grave stone, when it is put up to read:
ARTHUR DOBBS
Born May 22, 1840
Died

I was holding that document, staring at it, and grasping for elusive threads of perception, when Jed came in. He carried a manuscript in his hand.

Jed drew a chair up to the fire by the side of which I was sitting. It was with a strange feeling of relief that I accepted the significance of the manuscript he carried.

"I'm a strange man, doctor," he said by way of beginning. "You'd never understand me. I'm a strange man and I do strange things. I'm going to do one now. I've seemed conscientious, haven't I?"

"I've never tried to conceal my opinion of you," I said.

"No, you haven't. I like a candid man. That's why I've always liked you, although I can't say much for your intelligence. But you're honest. I'm not honest, but I'm intelligent. I've looked at my life as something to make the best of, and I haven't been too bad at all."

"You missed my chances, and I have not allowed sentimentalism to stop me when something real was to be gained. It's real world, not a fanciful one. That's the way I think."

"If all the people would be swinging on gallows," I suggested, "if your attitude prevailed generally."

"That's copy-book stuff that's so irritating," he said. "The only thing extraordinary about me is my doctor. My ideas do prevail, but I have less frankness. But what I want to say is that I'm going to do a strange thing."

"You'll probably think it's an act of contrition. It isn't at all, but you'll think it so. However, that's unimportant. You may not know it, but I was

"I mean the one I saw at the baseball game yesterday while you were at your aunt's funeral."

"Good," said the manager, "and don't come back till you've found him."

Mr. Brabecan spent thousands of dollars on his daughter's education. She attended some of the most expensive schools in America and Europe. She was taught to read and to play various instruments and to speak three or four languages."

"But let me tell you how shamelessly she repaid her father's tender care. She came back home and married his chauffeur."

"Splendid!" A girl possessing wealth and with her accomplishments might have married a broken-down duke."

The hostess had trouble in getting Mr. Harter to sing. After the song had been given, she came up with a smiling face to her guest and made this ambiguous remark:

"Mr. Harter, you must never tell me again that you cannot sing—I know now!"

"These people never read a news paper from one year's end to the other."

"That doesn't matter; they've engaged a maid who's lived in about every other family on the block."

WHEN A MAN'S MARRIED*BILLY WHISKERS

by FRANCES TREGO MONTGOMERY

All the time Billy Jr. had been encouraging his flock, the wolves had been growing nearer and nearer, until now only the bend of the pass separated them from the flock.

Soon the yellowish light of seven pairs of eyes glared through the blackness. This was met by the fiery red light in Billy Jr.'s eyes. The blinding sheep did not move nor look back. Billy Jr. His eyes fairly blazed defiance, and with a short of rage he bounded on the leader of the pack and killed him before he knew what had struck him. Billy was so black the wolves could not see all they could see were the red balls of the flock seemed to be here, and there, and everywhere, the most deadly balls they had ever come in

You will only be killed if you go out alone." This brought them to their senses and they closed in on more around the sheep, but left Billy to all the fighting. This he did with a vengeance and to such good purpose that the wolves commenced to slink away, wondering what kind of a leader these sheep had in place of old Billy Jr.

The last moment, Billy Jr. led the sheep home, thinking it would be better for them in the corral than out on the mountain until the weather moderated, for they were not used to such storms in this climate.

When Mr. Wilder saw Billy leading the flock home, he went to meet him on the road.

Billy Jr. was not mistaken in taking you for a born leader. You are worth your weight in gold. But it beats me where you hid yourselves last night, for we looked for you and could not find one of you. And I am sure you come back to Saul's flock without even a lamb missing is remarkable. I wonder the wolves did not get after you and kill some of the young lambs, even if they did freeze to death." And Billy Jr. wondered what he would have said could he see the dead wolves lying in the snow.

Three days after the dead bodies were found by a man from another ranch when looking for his sheep that had been lost since the storm and seeing some small necks of wood sticking to the side of the rocks opposite, he knew why

SAMSONS PLAY AGAINST PYOTTS

Samsons start on their regularly scheduled road trip tomorrow when they play against the Pyott Foundry team at Bill Niesen's Cleo park, Chicago. The series between these two clubs now stands two to one in favor of the Sammons.

While Manager Peering made efforts to bring in the Pyotts to Jameson, he was unable to connect the dates. As a result, the local fans will not see the famous Windy city crew on the tourney this season. However, a number are planning to make the trip down and spend a week-end holiday in the big city. The teams play also on Sunday.

DESESS WITH PYOTTS.

The Pyotts were the first Chicago league aggregation against whom the Samsons played this year. The first game was Aug. 4. The next two, Madison and Waukesha, were won by the Sammons 3 to 3 and 1 to 0.

Among their players, the Pyotts number such stars as Paddy Peacock, Northwestern center, and his pitching staff, which was won to perfection during the season.

Which team has improved the more since the first clashes is a question to be judged only on the field. Unfortunately, the Samsons are severely crippled at the present time because of lack of pitchers due to injuries. What Peering has planned is not known here. George Lathrop is away on a road trip, Lathrop will have to be the strong man of the "muds" with Walsh and Wooten to fall back upon.

SHAMROCKS HOOK UP WITH BELoit SUNDAY

SAMSON

The SAMSON Model "M" is the last word in modern, down-to-the-minute tractor construction. It is not like the average I-beam and channel steel frame tractor that weighs so much that it takes a large percentage of its own power for self-propulsion.

It is a close coupled power unit all by itself, from radiator to rear wheels. Every part is enclosed and protected against dust, mud or rain.

MODEL M TRACTOR

The Final Achievement In a Heavy-Duty Tractor

When the engineers and designers developed the SAMSON Model "M" Tractor, two things were uppermost in their minds: First, plenty of horse power at the draw bar for the lowest possible first cost and upkeep; second, an abundance of reliable, steady belt power that will do every heavy-duty belt power job on the farm or ranch.

They have accomplished both these things to perfection in the SAMSON Model "M". Here is a tractor that will take the place and perform the duty of a barn full of horses, without costing you a fortune or a big part of your crop to buy or maintain.

The even distribution of weight, compact unit design, and low center of gravity, give to the SAMSON great stability, making it hug the ground and preventing all danger of rearing up or tipping over.

For future details about the wonderful SAMSON Model "M", see your dealer or write us for FREE booklet which contains valuable and surprising information about maintenance cost of the SAMSON compared with horse upkeep.

Samson Trucks for all Field and Road Work

Here are some of the many distinct features that result in the superior sufficiency and adaptability of Samson three quarter and one and one-quarter ton Trucks for any use.

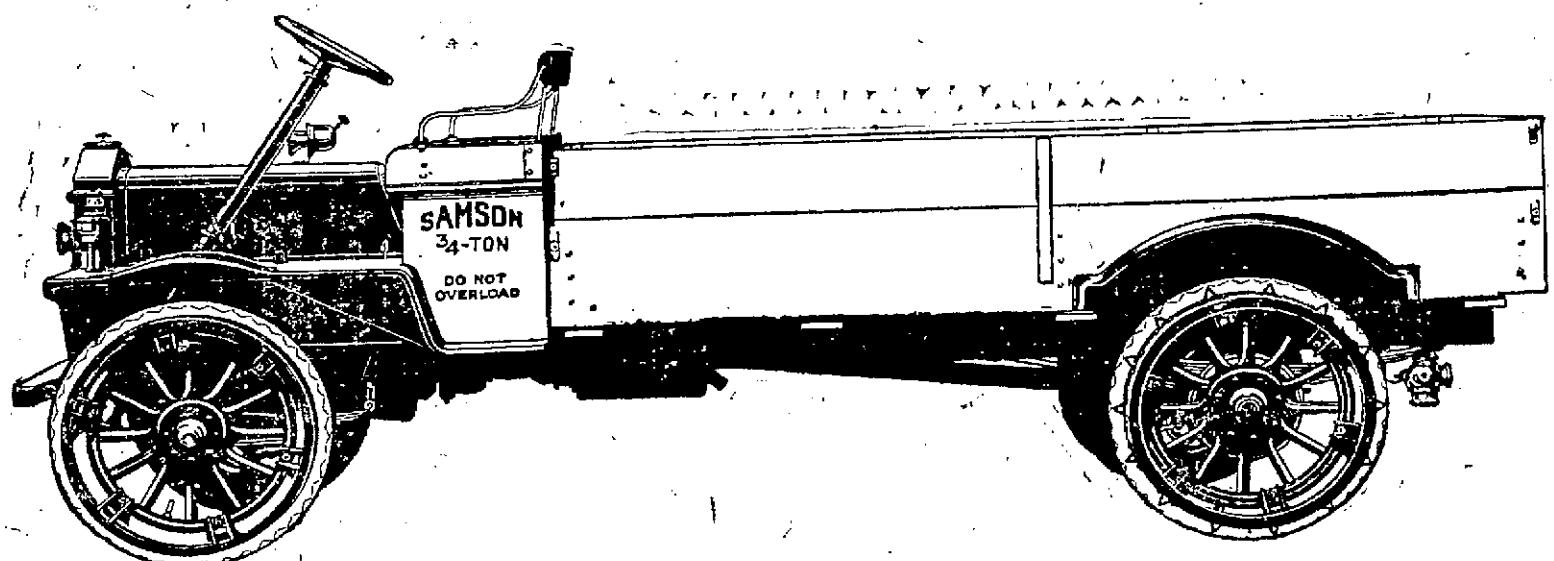

The driver's seat is coupled over the front axle, allowing 33% per cent. more loading space between front and rear wheel.

Samson wheel extension bases assure positive traction over any ground surface.

The Samson clutch will start the truck under a full load on any gear, without a quiver, making gear shifting simple and mechanically dependable.

Even distribution of strength and right weight throughout insures the utmost economy of fuel and tires with capacity loads.

Strength and balance have been substituted for costly weight in this truck. It is simple to drive and cheap to maintain because it stays on the job.

It is complete for all farm transportation. Literature on request.

THE RACES

THE RACING PROGRAM WILL BE A SPECIAL FEATURE AT THIS YEAR'S FAIR.

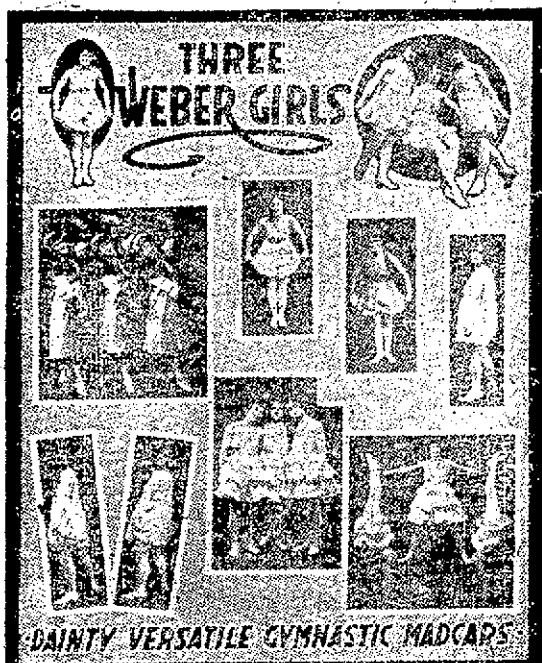

Janesville has long been noted for its famous speed contests, its excellent mile and half-mile race course and in the past the large entries of horses have given ample evidence of the fine tracks, service and courteous treatment accorded to all. Last year's race program was very complete; but this department is having more attention than in any year past and the speed program this year will be upon a scale much larger than ever before attempted. From the large number of entries being received the speed department will be taxed to the limit and the thousands who will daily attend this year's Fair will be given opportunity of witnessing the best races ever held in this section of the country. Our fine big amphitheatre and bleachers, flag bedecked and banners bobbing in the breeze, with its excellent view, helps to make this one of the best features of the fair.

"FLORINNE"

FLORINNE—Piano Accordionist. This act is performed by a beautiful young lady, whose fascinating charm, stage mannerism, and musical intelligence are out of the ordinary.

Miss Florinne's title of "The Wizard of the Piano Accordion" is not a subterfuge by any means, for this most creditable affix was won by this universally enjoyable and well liked artist, for her ability as a piano-accordionist.

Miss Florinne's rendition of a repertoire of selections, ranging from the best of the standard classics to the latest popular ballads and syncopated numbers, with here and there an old time melody injected, is sure to please the most fastidious audience, as well as furnishing those who prefer the Jazzy Airs with plenty of amusement.

Miss Florinne will render her repertoire either in the Grand Stand or on a platform. Her selections can be heard distinctly from one end of the Fair Grounds to the other.
